

Art & Conflict

5th November 2011

Evaluation

Was this training day:

Relevant?

Yes, conflict is part of my human experience and expressed in images is a natural way.

Very relevant both personally and professionally.

Yes, I can use elements of it on Monday morning!

Helpful?

Highlighted the potential positive aspects of conflict.

Helpful for personally looking at conflict but also how to assist others to do the same.

So good to have the peace and time to fully embrace the challenge and experience.

Stimulating?

Good company with a wonderful facilitator.

Yes, a lot of creative work was produced.

Yes, what a great facilitator! And making connections with other course members.

What did you like most or find most helpful? What will you take away and use?

Working on a personal conflict and then another working creatively on your conflict with imagery.

Mediation exercise.

Lovely to think about possibilities of working things through with clay.

Sharing – how to bring pairs and groups out of conflict.

What could have been better?

Perhaps a handout. Otherwise excellent day, well presented and excellent venue.

Carpet a bit clean and inhibiting to work on.

Any other comments?

Thank you so much for this opportunity to return to this kind of processing.

Would be interested in longer courses on this topic.

Great food, thanks. Lovely to be here again. Inspired me to try to make time to read more.

Very lovely, gentle, generous atmosphere.

Thank you for the space, environment, superb food and peace to focus.
